

MILITAMEN QUELL WEST VIRGINIA RIOTS. ROUND UP OF LEADERS BEGINS

RENEW APPEALS TO HARDENING FOR FEDERAL TROOPS

West Virginia Authorities Ask Immediate Dispatch Of Soldiers

ARMS ARE CAPTURED

Cessation Of Hostilities May Be Strategic Move It Is Said.

Washington, May 16.—President Harding today refused an appeal for federal troops for the West Virginia coal fields, where there has been intermittent warfare during the past week.

The appeal was made to the president by Senator Sutherland on behalf of Gov. Morgan of West Virginia. Secretary Weeks was present when the appeal was made to the president.

The president stated that he did not believe it would be wise to send federal troops into West Virginia at this time.

Williamson, W. Va., May 16.—With the arrival of several companies of Kentucky national guards, the first round up of the leaders in the attacking forces which have been making war along the Tug river front, has started. The militiamen have started combing the densely wooded sections of the mountain.

Five men, alleged leaders in the insurrection, have been placed under arrest.

According to information sent to Sheriff A. C. Pinson and Captain Brockus in command of the West Virginia state troopers, the five men under arrest have been taken to Pikeville, Ky.

Many of the Kentucky militiamen are mountaineers and they are well versed in mountain fighting. Their presence has had a salutary effect already as there has been little firing going on this morning. Not a shot has been fired across the Kentucky border into West Virginia since they arrived.

A determined effort is being made to locate the base of supplies from which point the distribution of arms and ammunition has been made. It is known that somewhere in the mountains a large supply of arms and ammunition is still cached.

Purchased in Cincinnati.

One report prevalent but without any official confirmation is that the arms have been sent into the mountains by union officials and that these supplies were purchased in Cincinnati. Officers are trying to verify this report.

Renewed appeals for the immediate dispatch of federal troops to Mingo Pike war zone were wired to President Harding, Secretary of War Weeks and Governors Morrow and Morgan by local authorities here, and the declaration being made that the arrival of the Kentucky national guard can do nothing but put down sporadic outbreaks, the telegrams were signed by circuit Judge R. D. Bailey, Sheriff A. C. Pinson, Captain J. R. Brockus of the state police, and a number of prominent citizens.

Over Sunday developments in the war zone included a thirty minute engagement at Merrimac, but no casualties were reported.

The warfare which has been carried on for three days contained no mercy. At New Howard scene of heavy fighting Sunday a woman was about to become a mother. Physicians would not venture across the open space surrounding the home in face of what seemed certain death. Her neighbors had all abandoned their homes but the Capture Rifles.

State police also captured six high powered rifles and a large quantity of ammunition which was tossed off a train as it passed a ten colony of striking miners from Merrimac and Springs. Six suit cases containing ammunition and a Browning automatic rifle tossed from a pullman window at Springs; fell into the hands of union sympathizers according to reports here.

Reports have filtered through the mountain fastness that pleas have been sent to Washington for troops by Governor Morgan and in some quarters the cessation of hostilities is regarded as a strategic move on the part of the leaders of the attacking forces. By stopping the fighting for a while at least the sending of federal troops may be averted and in the meantime the attackers can secure a fresh supply of ammunition. Resumption of hostilities at an opportune time seems certain.

A woman was too ill to flee to the mountains. In the darkness of the night there amid a shower of bullets a new life came into the world.

At Merrimac yesterday a woman with a babe in her arms sought to go to the substitution, a short distance away, for protection. As she crossed the open space she was fired upon but escaped injury.

Troops Are Ready.

Chillicothe, O., May 16.—Sixty freight baggage and passenger cars arrived here and were placed in the yards at Camp Sherman for instant use in case the 19th infantry is sent to Mingo county, W. Va.

Food and provender have been packed for quick handling.

Officials are still "awaiting further orders."

'Ireland's Worst Week End' Takes Heavy Toll of Lives

Thirty One Persons Including Two Women Are Shot To Death In Series Of Outbreaks In Country Over Sunday.

Dublin, May 16.—Three British officers and a woman were killed today when Sinn Feiners ambushed a motor car near Ballyturn.

A detachment of police was ambushed while being rushed to the scene.

District inspector Blake, Mrs. Blake, Captain Cornwallis and Lieut. McGroarty were shot to death.

A constable was fatally wounded in the fighting that followed the police ambushade.

Thirty-one persons including two women were shot to death in "Ireland's worst week end," according to a casualty list compiled this afternoon.

Despite the renewal of Irish peace negotiations, a terrific wave of Sinn Fein violence, in which many persons were killed and much property was destroyed swept Ireland and parts of England over the week end.

The Dublin correspondent of the Daily Chronicle reveals that an attempt was made at Dublin to assassinate Sir Hamar Greenwood, secretary for Ireland in the British cabinet. Shots were fired at Sir Hamar's automobile but it was unoccupied at the time. The British official was said to have been warned in advance of the plot against his life.

Armed, masked men, who were described by the police as "Irish terrorists" raided houses at Liverpool and in the outskirts of this city. The raided houses were occupied by persons who were believed to have been relatives serving with the crown forces in Ireland.

Three civilians were shot to death near their homes at Carrington Hill, in county Cork. Another civilian was killed at Middleton, near Carrington Hill.

A detachment of soldiers was ambushed near Bantry and three were killed. A fourth was wounded.

The Rev. Father O'Callaghan, a member of the clergy attached to the cathedral at Cork, was shot to death by armed men who invaded his bedroom at 4 o'clock in the morning. Police inspector Biggs and a woman companion were shot to death from ambush while motoring to Newport in county Tipperary.

Two head constables, three sergeants and several policemen were shot to death in clashes in county Cork. Two naval men, who were suspected by the Sinn Fein of being spies were seized by republicans and riddled with bullets.

A black and tan policeman was found shot to death in Dublin.

Three persons including a woman, were shot by Sinn Fein raiders in the London district. Two oil storage houses were set on fire. At St. Albans a former member of the auxiliary police and his wife were wounded.

Incendiary farm fires were reported from Fifeshire, Scotland. They were attributed to the Sinn Fein.

ANTI-SOCIALISTS ARE VICTORIOUS IN ITALIAN ELECTION

Premier Giolitti Is Given Safe Working Majority.

Rome, May 16.—Leaders of the constitutional parties (anti-socialists) made confident claims of victory as the work of tabulating the returns of Sunday's general parliamentary election progressed today. It was declared that Premier Giolitti would have a safe majority in the next chamber of deputies.

For the most part the election passed off quietly although clashes between communists and Fascisti (extreme nationalists were reported) from some districts. A fight occurred at Venice between socialists and members of the Fascisti who were guarding the polls. One of the guards was seized and thrown into the canal.

The election was the most important in Italy in more than half a century. It was a national test of strength to ascertain whether the socialists and communist or the constitutionalists should control the government. The government received powerful support from Fascisti an organization of the veterans which was formed since the war and which has been carrying on a violent campaign against the communists and socialists.

SURPLUS OF WHEAT DWINDLING; MAY MEAN SHORTAGE

Crop Damage To Any Extent Viewed With Much Alarm

O'Biulls 4FertBO Chgrdl atlat

Columbus, O., May 16.—There will not be much of a surplus of wheat and, should anything happen to reduce the estimated production either in this country or abroad, there is danger of a slight shortage, says a statement issued by W. F. Collander, statistician for the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

"Should there be extensive damage to the crop over a large territory, which sometimes happens, a real shortage might develop," continued Collander.

"The exportable surplus in the United States and Canada is dwindling rapidly and will be about exhausted when a new crop reaches the market. It is estimated that the carry-over on July 1 will be only about half that of last year."

"The visible supplies in the United States at the present time are only about one third of the visible supplies of last year, or 15 million bushels as compared with 45 million. Canada now has 28 million bushels in sight as compared with 20 million bushels a year ago."

"This means that the most of the exports from this country during the next year, beginning July 1, must come from this year's crop if we are to have an average carry over for next year, and the prices our farmers will receive will depend in large measure on the production resulting from the crop now growing," Collander concluded.

CYCLONIC STORMS ON SUN ARE CAUSE OF MAGNETIC DISTURBANCE ON EARTH

Telephone and Telegraph Service Disrupted By Conditions On Luminary Body—"Spots" Occur Periodically Every Eleven Years.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16.—Because of cyclonic storms on the sun and the resultant disturbance in the earth's magnetic fields, telephone and telegraphic services were disrupted Friday and Saturday nights, according to Dr. K. Burns, of the Allegheny observatory. He says that the "sun spots" appear periodically every eleven years and usually are accompanied by electrical disturbances on the earth. The largest single spot observed this year, he said, covers an area estimated at 80,000 miles.

Dr. Burns says there are many unusual features about "sun spots" now visible. The total area affected is about 100,000 square miles, Dr. Burns said.

According to Dr. Burns, the spots will disappear only with an eruption of the sun's internal gasses.

Polish Insurgents Capture Three Cities In Silesia

Violent Fighting Rages All Day Sunday In Two Districts.—Italian Troops Withdraw From Three Cities, Which Fall.

Berlin, May 16.—Polish insurgents have captured three more cities in Upper Silesia, according to advices received by the German foreign office today. Violent fighting raged all day Sunday in the districts of Gogolin and Gross-Strehlitz.

In the sector of Annaberg the Poles attacked with field artillery but were unsuccessful.

The Italian troops that were withdrawn from Nikolai, Pless and Rybnik have been concentrated in the Ratibor district.

The inter allied commission at Oppeln is sending reinforcements of troops to Gogolin.

OFFICIAL INQUIRY INTO TRAIN WRECK MAY REVEAL PLOT

OHIO ASSEMBLY FAILS TO SOLVE TAX QUESTIONS

Debt Limitation Law Enacted By Legislature.

SENATE DISTURBED

Upper House Peeved Over Action Of Other Branch.

Columbus, O., May 16.—The tax problem is still unsolved. Another legislature has come and gone without effecting a solution of the troublesome taxation questions. The situation is virtually the same.

The assembly, the house part of it, was too evenly divided between classification and reverence for ancient uniform rule to submit a classification proposal straight or modified, to the people.

Also it failed, if enactment of an income tax law is essential to a solution, as nearly every legislator and every person who appeared before tax committees said it is. An income tax measure went by the boards because classificationists are opposed to it if superimposed on a uniform property tax.

However, the eighty-fourth general assembly did one thing which dozens and scores of assemblies regarded important, but always failed to accomplish. It enacted a debt limitation law which is generally believed will prove effective.

In order to permit taxing districts to function under this debt limitation measure permitting the people, by a 60 per cent majority, to suspend the Smith 1 per cent law for three years.

Within the three year period a new legislature will have to enact a brand new revenue raising measure or extend the Smith law suspension. The state is likely to be forced to the former because there are bound to be some districts that will vote down Smith law suspensions and thereby get themselves into tighter straits than under the debt limitation restrictions.

The assembly hasn't quit altogether. The house considers itself gone for good, but the senate will return May 27.

If the senate on that date should be stubborn enough not to function unless the house comes back also, what will happen?

The house hopes and claims to have assurance that Governor Davis then will dissolve the assembly and immediately call it back into special session to enact the general appropriations bill for the two years beginning July 1. Some senators threaten to test this right in supreme court if the governor exercises it.

The bill might have been in the hands of the governor by this time, if the senate hadn't gotten so Saturday afternoon and gone home. Speaker Beetham signed the finance bill Saturday night. All that remains is signature by Lieutenant Governor Brown.

The senate got peeved at the house's action in notifying the governor that it had proposed final adjournment to the senate three times, was turned down every time, that, therefore, a disagreement exists.

The senate is opposed to adjournment because it wants a voice in appointments by the governor. It wants to be able to come back any time it sees fit to confirm or reject appointments. House members contend the executive branch of the government is co-ordinate with the legislative and doesn't need a year-round guardian angel.

GIVE UP HOPE FOR PASSENGER AND CREW OF VESSEL

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 16.—All hope had been abandoned last night for the Captain, five members of the crew and one woman passenger of the barge Miztec, that broke from the steamer Zillah off Whitefish point, Lake Superior, during a storm Saturday morning.

Those missing and who are believed to have perished were Captain K. Pederson, 40, his wife; Mate Robert Camp, 41 of Tonawanda, N. Y.; Seamen Erick Johnson and Louis John Decker of Titusville, Pa., and an unidentified seaman who shipped from Port Huron.

The barge Peshtigo, which also broke from the Zillah, was picked up today by the Zillah and brought here. The Peshtigo lay to after breaking her tow.

The Pittsburgh Steamship Company steamer Maunaloa, which grounded on a sandbar at Cedar Reef last night was refloated today after 300 tons of iron ore had been removed.

Coast guards were patrolling the Whitefish Bay shore last night in search for bodies from the Miztec.

A heavy northwest gale was whipping Lake Superior last night and snow was falling, but no other steamers were reported to be in danger.

Loss of the Miztec was the first lake disaster of the present season. The Miztec was in tow of the steamer Myron when that vessel sank off Crisp Point November 22, 1919, with a loss of 18 men.

The Markets

Stocks
Moderate industrial recovery in some directions and Germany's unconditional acceptance of the reparations, terms, together with unmistakable easing tendencies in money, lent the newly rejuvenated market support. Ralls were favored in different sessions, apparently as a result of anticipated wage readjustment. Public participation in the market during the past few weeks has exceeded anything this year. Set backs are inevitable and another period of dullness with yielding tendencies is not at all impossible, but admittedly underlying conditions have improved enough to warrant tempered optimism. Business has not kept pace with prices of stocks. Whether there will continue to advance in anticipation of pronounced business recovery four to six months hence is a question of great import which only time can answer.

Grain
The tide in grain has set in neither strongly upward nor downward. Generous yields are expected this season and business conditions do not warrant any marked display of speculative enthusiasm. On the other hand, grain values are relatively low and deflation should manifest itself most decidedly elsewhere henceforth. Settlement of the German reparations question will encourage buying for export and lend the market support. Crop damage figure on the bull side from time to time. The movement of new grain from the Southwest will start in about six weeks. Sentiment regarding corn is mixed. The visible decreased notably shortly ago, but is still large.

Livestock
Recent history repeats itself in the livestock market. Cattle and hogs took the usual back swing after their slump, while live mutton showed evidence of underlying weakness. Prices rise and fall as receipts vary. Stock cattle show no great amount of activity. There is little prospect of a sustained rise in hogs for the present. Corn and hogs are still out of line and provision stocks are ample. The end of June may bring a turn. Hides are gaining in value after their long depression.

Cotton
Recent developments, conspicuously Germany's acceptance of the reparations terms and the easing tendency in money seem to favor a somewhat higher range of prices for ray cotton. The British coal strike is the most depressing circumstance. The National Ginners Association estimates American consumption of cotton in April as about 15,000 bales less than in March and upwards of 150,000 bales less than in April a year ago. Domestic conditions are slowly improving and cotton, after its almost vertical decline of the past year, will almost certainly reflect the trend.

Wool
No spirited activity has developed in the wool market, although some business is transacted each week. Prices are holding fairly steady. London has shown surprising strength in recent sales. One big pool of new clip wool, which sold last year at 71c, it is interesting to note, drew a highest bid of only 16 7-8c this year.

Metals
The response of buying to wage and price reduction in the iron and steel industry has been discouragingly slow. The leading interest is operating at about 40 per cent capacity and the independents about 30 per cent. The whole industry is at low ebb. Improvement will be slow. Rate reductions would accelerate it.

Agriculture
Important legislation in relief of agriculture is promised for enactment during the present session of Congress. Fifteen senators representing agricultural states have united for action in support of measures favoring their constituents. The House has already passed a bill exempting farmers co-operative marketing associations from prosecution under the existing anti-trust laws. Several bills to regulate trading in grain futures have been consolidated in the Tincher bill, a legislative effort very moderate in contrast with some measures projected among them total abolition of the futures market. The Tincher bill enacted should elevate the trading operations on the grain exchange and confine them within proper limits thus removing the suspicion which surrounds them.

The credit situation shows further distinct signs of easing and the reduction of the rediscount rate of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank at assurance of more liberal accommodations to agriculture henceforth. The Federal Reserve has abandoned its initial policy of close restriction. The farmers should find credit more readily obtainable from this time on than during the year past, although industry and trade will compete for the rather limited supply of funds.

Farmers and to some extent the world at large are still wondering why farm prices dropped so much farther and faster than most other prices when deflation set in. The forces of deflation seem to concentrate upon foodstuffs, demoralizing prices and prostrating the farm markets. One explanation is the slump in export trade. This applies especially to hog products and is a partial explanation. In same measure the sharp decline resulted from the credit stringency—a circumstance affecting industry as well as agriculture but possibly affecting agriculture more intensely.

In larger measure, as the mass of farmers are beginning to realize the disproportionate deflation in farm prices was due to the fact that farmers have no such control over the price of their products as have manufacturers and wage earners. They have no open price associations, no union scales. They could not maintain prices artificially as the producers and distributors did or as union labor maintained war prices. When deflation began, it sought the point of least resistance and farm products felt the full force to deflationary tendencies that should have extended equally to all branches of production.

Farmers now, through their organizations, must compel a reduction in wages and prices to correspond with the extreme reductions in farm products. This they are doing by means of a buyers' strike which is at the root of the paralysis in certain branches of trade.

While prices paid agricultural producers may rise during the next six months, any profit in farming for the immediate present must come as the result of efficiency and economy in production.

SOCIETY

BRIDE-ELECT AGAIN HONORED.

Several of the most enjoyable affairs of the season have been the series of parties given for the pleasure of Miss Florence Kellie, whose marriage to Mr. Arthur Franklin Rudd of Lenoir, City, Tennessee, will be an event of the early summer.

On Saturday evening, Misses Gladys Shadrach, and Alice Foley were hostesses to the fourth of the series, given at the home of Miss Shadrach, honoring Miss Kellie.

The guests included the intimate friends of Miss Kellie, who have enjoyed each of the affairs given in her honor.

Cards furnished entertainment for the guests during the first part of the evening. Following cards a delicious two course lunch was served in the dining room of the Shadrach home, guests being seated about small tables.

A lovely bouquet of sweetheart roses and lavender sweet peas in a crystal basket formed the centerpiece of the table, at which the honor guest was seated. Tall pink candles in crystal holders, tied with lavender ribbon bows were placed at each end of this table and centered each of the smaller tables. Place cards were in keeping with the color scheme of pink and lavender. Favors were dainty bouquets of sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

Covers were laid for Misses Florence Kellie, Ethel Swan, Elizabeth and Imogene Mullen, Rosemarie Farrell, Olive Huston, Lois Purdon, Lois Benbow, Louise Parrett, Helene Birch, Fathie Rankin, Doris Whittington, Margaret Poland, Thelma Planey, Gladys Hagler, and Clarice Henderson of Delaware.

ELIMINATE THE "IF" EDUCATION COMES ON A DEAD RUN

We do not like the word very much, but it attaches itself to about everything that we could possibly say regarding the immediate present and future concerning building. If prices could be stabilized, if wages could be based on an honest and full day's work, if the uncertainties of future market conditions could be eliminated, if the solution of the great problems of adjustment that confront the whole world could be clearly visioned, the rest would be easy and the "if" could be eliminated from most of the questions that confront the architect and the rest of the world. According to the F. W. Dodge Company review, the construction industry is in very much the same position as it was in 1919. A spring awakening is predicted in some quarters, to be followed by increased activity during the summer and fall. While the amount of money involved in construction contracts in 1920 in twenty-five Northeastern States was the same as in 1919, this amount of money—over two and a half billions of dollars—paid for a volume of construction that was nearly one-fourth less in 1920 than in 1919.—From an Editorial in the April number of Architecture (Charles Scribner's Sons, Publishers.)

HUMMING BIRD

Guy Toms, barber at the Coates shop captured a real live honest-to-goodness humming bird Monday afternoon.

The little fellow gave up without resistance on Green street, and was taken to the barbershop where he drew a crowd of interested spectators. Under ordinary circumstances it would be almost impossible to capture a humming bird.

After remaining peacefully for a time, the bird took his wings, flying through the transom, and over the court house tower.

CATHOLIC MISSION CLOSES SESSIONS SUNDAY EVENING

With solemn benediction, the Mission for the men of St. Brigid's Catholic Church, closed Sunday evening.

Rev. Father Edward O'Hearn of the Dominican Order, preached the final sermon to the men of the Parish Sunday evening on "Perseverance" urging them to persevere in the good work they started during the week and pointing out to them that they can do so by prayer and faithful attendance at Mass.

As an example, Father O'Hearn recited the story of the betrayal of the Savior by Judas, pointing out the lack of fidelity of the Apostle, also of the story of St. Peter who denied Christ, yet repented for his act, and later became the Prince of the Apostles.

An impressive feature of the closing ceremonies was the enrollment of men in the Holy Name Society. Standing at the altar railing about 175 men took the pledge to support the organization which has as its basic principle the teaching of the divinity of Christ and the suppression of profane language. The organization already had a membership of 175 men which with the new members brings the total enrollment to almost 300. Standing with the new members the former members of the Society repeated their pledge to the organization.

Solemn benediction closed the Sunday night devotionals with Father Martin Varley of Winton Place, Cincinnati as the celebrant. Father Wm. P. O'Connor of St. Augustine's Church, Jamestown, was Deacon and Father James Collins of St. Peter's Cathedral, Cincinnati, was Sub-Deacon. The pastor, Father Albert A. Burke, also assisted at the service.

Father O'Hearn in his farewell remarks congratulated and commended the men for their faithful attendance at the week's devotionals and their attitude as did Father Burke, the pastor, each encouraging the men to continue in the way they had started.

The Services Sunday night, not only closed the Men's Mission but brought to a close, the two weeks Mission, the first week of which was devoted to the Women of the Parish. Father Richard Cahill and Father Edward O'Hearn of the Dominican Order conducted the Mission. Father Cahill left Sunday morning for Cincinnati where he will conduct a Retreat at Price Hill this week, while Father O'Hearn left Monday morning for Louisville, where he will spend the week resting Howard Mannings, engineer with the Ohio Insurance Inspection Bureau and Mr. Bernard, fire department inspector of that department, conferred with city officials here Monday.

April 18, the Bureau inspected this city with the view of reclassifying insurance rates and their visit Monday was in relation to this subject.

So far, the Bureau has not given out its report on the situation here, stating whether the classification will remain the same or be changed. They are said to have told officials here however, that the rates in effect in the past were ridiculously low for a city of this size.

The men met here Monday with City Auditor Zell and representatives of the Commission but they will not give out information concerning their investigation in advance of the report.

PRUGH LOTS ON N. GALLOWAY ST.

Just a few words in regard to the lots on N. Galloway Street that I will offer at auction next Saturday at 2 o'clock on the plot. I would not take your price for this property if I expected to give all my time for the next year to the Real estate business in Xenia, for I am sure this property will double in value in a very short time. North Galloway Street is one of the best residence streets in the city, nicely built with beautiful homes and good people the four lots sold off this plat are to leading families who will build nice homes, the ground is high and dry with beautiful view any way you look and Xenia is growing in this direction several real estate men in Xenia testified these lots are worth $1000 each, the court said they were worth $650 on the west side and $500 on the east side. ## G. A. R. MAY HOLD CONVENTION HERE IN JUNE 1922

The 1922 state convention of the Grand Army of the Republic may be held in this city.

At the meeting of Lewis Post, G. A. R. held Saturday afternoon, Col. I. T. Cummings offered a resolution, which was adopted, inviting the state convention to come to this city next year.

The invitation will be presented at the state convention to be held in Greenville the first week in June when local delegates will set forth the claims of this city for the annual convention.

Following the meeting, the question was taken up with members of the Chamber of Commerce who will bring it before the director's meeting at an early meeting, and with the endorsement of that organization, it is believed that the meeting can be obtained for this city.

Xenia entertained the Civil War veterans in 1910 when the state convention was held in this city and is still remembered as one of the biggest events in the recent history of the city. At that time Xenia went out of its way to be hospitable to the men who had fought in the war of the Rebellion and the affair brought hundreds of visitors.

Next year, it will be 12 years since the convention was held here, and local Post members believe they are entitled to entertain the convention again. Although other cities will also be making strong bids for the convention, Col. Cummings says it can be brought to this city, by a little effort. The local American Legion Post will also be asked to co-operate in the movement to secure the convention and to entertain the soldiers.

THREE ARE ARRESTED BY LOCAL POLICE

Howard Fox, 25, and Harry Panter, 21, both of this city, were arrested by Officer David Mangan, Saturday night on a charge of plain drunk, and were fined $5 and costs by Judge E. D. Smith, in police court, Monday morning.

William Cummings, 35, was arrested in Spring Valley at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, charged with drunk and cruelty to animals. His arrest followed reports that he was beating a horse from the Evans livery barn, that he had hired and had upset the buggy several times.

The Patrolman followed Cummings to Spring Valley in Charles Evans machine, where Cummings was placed under arrest after he attempted to offer resistance. He was fined $5 and costs on the drunk charge by Judge Smith in police court Monday morning and was required to pay $10 for damage to the buggy.

MADAME CURIE ARRIVES TO GET ONE GRAM OF RADIUM, WORTH $100,000.

The arrival in New York last Wednesday on the Olympic of Madame Marie Sklodowska Curie, French physicist of Polish lineage and discoverer of radium, and her exceedingly interesting daughters was decidedly an all-woman episode. An energetic little American woman, Mrs. William B. Meloney, went to France to lure Madame Curie from her cloister of science and escort her and the Mademoiselles Curie to America; the $100,000 fund to buy one gram of radium to be given Madame Curie by President Harding having been raised among American women.

Two private limousines waiting at the pier-head, sent by their wealthy owners, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie and Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady, took the three Curies to Mrs. Meloney's home, 31 West Twelfth Street, New York.

I might add that the welcome arrangements at the dock were in the exclusive charge of Mrs. Robert G. Mead, and in addition to women of the Executive Committee of the Marie Curie Radium Fund, there awaited a double cordon of women and girls from a Polish-American co-operative society, which, with waving flags, impressed the occasion with the fact that Marie Curie was born Marie Sklodowska, of Polish parents living in Warsaw. It was an event of, by and for the ladies; we men were only the spectators.

The French can always be depended upon to be original. Madame Curie's introduction to the newspaper men of America was in itself a unique souvenir, namely, a typed "interview" signed "M. Curie," her stenograph being as genuine, modest and frank as herself. The statement read:

"I have for years wished to visit America, but my laboratory work and my children have made this impossible, until now I am happy to bring my daughters to see your great country with me. They share my gratitude to the American women for their interest in science and in my work. Will you please for me thank the American people?"

There is nothing about Madame Curie that jars the nerves. Her voice is low, even and sweet-toned. Her English is book-perfect, a cultured flow of properly placed words expressing a definite thought in each sentence.

Her wearing apparel was in perfect keeping with the quiet, self-effacing life she has led—a plain black tailored suit, with pongee blouse, and a black satin four-in-hand tie.

I was anxious to know what she most wanted to see in the country she was visiting for the first time. Her mind is made up on that score. She frankly said it was her wish to stand in the great solitudes of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, to hear the roar of the mighty Niagara Falls and to visit California. She is a student of nature and knows all about John Burroughs, the naturalist, whose recent death before her coming she deplored.

Her observation upon the hugeness of the ship that brought her over was: "How far we have progressed since Columbus!"

Mme. Curie and her daughters will remain in the United States until June 25, and in the interim will receive many honors, medals and degrees in addition to the precious gram of radium with which she hopes to achieve scientific results of lasting benefit to human-kind.

One gram of radium is to be presented to Madame Curie by the hand of the President in behalf of the women of America. They recognize her greatness and her service. This is not a reward for her. It is not for her advantage. She will use it for the good of humanity. She will use it as a weapon in the battle against an obscure and baffling ailment.

A CONFIDENCE UNBETRAYED.

A six-year-old controversy was settled in Denver, Col., when Judge Ben Lindsey finally decided to pay the fine of $500 and costs imposed upon him by a Court for his refusal to betray the confidence of a child. He had been adjudged in contempt of court because of his refusal to testify as to what had been told to him in confidence in his capacity as Judge of the Juvenile Court by a boy about the circumstances attending the killing of his father, for which killing his mother was tried and acquitted. The issue was carried to the courts of last appeal; and while Judge Lindsey lost his contention that the communications to him were privileged his final decision to pay the fine closes the case, the penalty failing to shake his determination not to betray his confidant.

There may be many opinions about Judge Lindsey himself, about the work he has done in the Juvenile Court cause and about his own title to the credit given him for that work, but there are hardly two opinions as to the correctness of his refusal to reveal the lad's story. And there will be a general feeling of satisfaction that the Court which held Lindsey to have been in contempt was willing to regard the payment of the fine as being sufficient to purge the defendant of the technical charge of contempt. Judge Lindsey had expressed his determination to submit to imprisonment rather than by payment of the fine to seem to admit the justice of the penalty; but it is just as well that he has taken wiser counsel and refrained from seeking to fasten a crown of martyrdom upon his brow.

THE COLLEGE GRADUATE AND THE EDISONIAN QUESTIONNAIRE

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

The Woman's Missionary Convention of the United Presbyterian Church being held at Monmouth Illinois this week decided to hold their next session in this city next year. Five cities contested for the meeting and Xenia was selected.

The most important event of the year is the visiting of V. F. Cody, Buckskin Bill, to Xenia on May 28. He has the largest Wild West Show in the world and will give the people of this section a nine day wonder.

The Woman's Foreign Society of the M. E. Church, Hillsboro district, was held in Jamestown yesterday, there being about 65 delegates present. Bellbrook is today ythronged with ministers, from all the surrounding towns and cities, some forty or fifty who belong to the Wheelman's club, coming in to that town on bicycles for a day's outing.

O. F. Hypes, a former Xenia boy, who has been engaged in the hat and gent's furnishing goods in Springfield for the past several years, is a prominent candidate for the nomination for Representative in the Ohio Legislature from Clark county, before the Republican convention soon to be held there.

County Treasurer Asa Little and wife will leave tomorrow of Packwood Iowa, where they will visit for a week or ten days with Mrs. Little's brothers.

Is It Yours?

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY

EBENEZER EMMONS

May 16, 1860

Anyone who is amused by long scientific words and most people are will find a certain amusement as well as a certain admiration in reading about Ebenezer Emmons.

This gentleman with the charming old fashioned name was born in Middlefield, Massachusetts, and spent most of his life in New England and New York. His greatest distinction, which among scientific men is a very great one indeed, is that he is the founder of American paleozoic stratigraphy.

In other words of fewer syllables this means that he was the first, or one of the first to delve into the earth with the idea of finding the buried layers that composed the surface many centuries ago and finding there skeletons of strange beasts that lived ages before history began.

Ebenezer Emmons wanted to be a doctor, and with that in mind went to Albany College. Only for amusement he began to classify the rocks of what scientists call the Taconic era, in Berkshire county. This work developed his interest in geology and some years later he became professor of that science in Williams College.

He began studying and writing about the layers of rock known as Taconic and Cambrian sandstones. During his years at Williams he discovered a great many things about the flowers and plants and the strange, giant animals that roamed the world and in this case, the state of New York, in prehistoric times. Emmons when he was 63.

GRANGES OF STATE TO MEET IN JUNE

Columbus, May 16.—Every one of the 105,000 grangers in Ohio will be present at some meeting of the order in June if plans announced by State Master L. J. Tabor of Barnesville are followed out.

The Ohio Grange has set aside June as efficiency month. Every grange in the state will be expected to confer the degrees during the month and each one is expected to have a drilled and trained degree team to exemplify the work. Prizes are to be offered.

County deputies are asked to call all officers together for a conference at the courthouse in the various counties June 1 to make plans for the demonstration.

The executive of the grange at its recent meeting in Zanesville instructed Tabor to take charge of plans for the drills.

The grange has 871 subordinate granges, in addition there are 112 juvenile granges with a membership of between 3,000 and 4,000. Tabor plans to visit every county in the state in the next three or four months.

Practical Business Talks

GOOD BUSINESS.

Every year the national Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign broadens its scope and effectiveness.

More than seven thousand cities and towns are now co-operating in this important community upbuilding movement.

In one city alone fire losses have been reduced nearly one million dollars and its people saved one hundred and sixty thousand dollars in insurance premiums.

"Drives" and "campaigns" seem necessary to get people to do the things they know they ought to do. The Clean Up movement should of course be followed through during every day of the year. Good citizenship is good business. The Clean Up idea is a good business proposition for everybody. It makes more business for the retail merchant, it helps the banker because it teaches thrift and promotes prosperity and growth. The real estate men know that it increases the property values.

The original purpose of the campaign probably was merely to promote the sale of paint. And it certainly has been amazingly successful in this regard. But the movement soon outgrew its narrow beginning so that now all classes of people have learned to work together for their common good in cleaning up the streets, alleys and backyards. Squalid districts have been cleaned and beautified.

A continued and sustained effort should be made to continue this annual activity and to make the community betterment idea one of daily effort throughout the year.

HOURS OF SADNESS.

We all have hours of sadness, when we abandon mirth, and talk about the badness of everything on earth. Perhaps the grub we swallow has made our innards ache, and we say life is hollow, a grim and ghastly fake. Perhaps some firm is busted, whose stock we lately bought, and we are sore disgusted, discouraged and distraught. Perhaps the neighbor's Dorking has scratched our beans again, and we, with language coking, denounce that active hen. But after eight hours' sleeping we're glad and gay once more, and have no use for weeping, and think that grief's a bore. Unfortunately the mortal who rises from his couch and feels no wish to chortle, but airs a beastly grouch. Man's sorrow should be driven by slumber from his mind, for that's why sleep is given to weary humankind. A grouch is, in the gloaming, a common thing with us, for then tired men are combing their souls for things to cuss; their feet are full of thistles, their whiskers full of hay, and no one sings or whistles at closing of the day. But in the brilliant morning, when all the world is bright, the healthy man is scorning the spectres of last night.

FLYERS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE AS TAIL OF AIRPLANE CATCHES IN PHONE WIRES

When the tail of their airplane caught in telephone wires along the Spencer road, between the Jamestown and Cedarville pikes east of Xenia at five o'clock Saturday evening Russel Haines of Columbus and Alfred Walthall of Jamestown, were able to climb out without injury, after a most remarkable escape.

The men were flying from Jamestown to Fairfield planning to go from there to Columbus and had left Jamestown just a few minutes before. When about four miles from Jamestown, and between 400 and 500 feet in the air, the flyers noticed the plane was not in good working order, one wing being out of commission.

Mr. Haines, who is a former lieutenant in the air service, attempted to fly with the wind, but the plane began to fall the good wing however kept it from descending too swiftly. After just clearing a row of trees, the plane descended quickly, so that the tail of the plane caught the telephone wires, and the nose of the machine settled over toward the ground. The telephone wires held the plane suspended, while the men climbed out.

Mr. Haines, who was formerly of Port William, is a son of Mrs. Zimri Haines of that place, and a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. I. Q. Jordan of Wilmington. He has been living in Columbus and makes exhibition and passenger air flights. Last fall he left the plane in the Walthall barn, for the winter and came for it Saturday. He went over the machine carefully before starting and thought it was in good shape, but it is believed now that a connecting wire on one wing was not working properly.

Mr. Haines and Mr. Walthall planned to go to Fairfield and fly from there to Columbus. After the accident, Mr. Haines fixed the broken wing and continued to Fairfield but Mr. Walthall returned to Jamestown.

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. F. PHILLIPS, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter clearly shows that no other remedy is so successful in overcoming this condition as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TROY CONCERN TAKES OVER HOLDINGS OF M'KINNON DASH FIRM

Troy, May 16.—The Hobart Manufacturing Company of Troy purchased the entire Troy plant of the McKinnon Dash Company, thereby adding 6,000 square feet of floor space to its already large factory facilities. The purchase is another indication of the tremendous growing business of the local concern which has the distinction of being one of the very few industrial enterprises of the valley or state which passed through the business depression without lessening production.

The McKinnon plant no longer needed by the McKinnon company, which is concentrating its work at the home plant in Buffalo, New York and the Canadian plant at Hamilton, Ontario is an unusually well constructed and planned factory building and is said to be particularly well suited for Hobart work. It is situated almost adjacent to the other Hobart factory buildings and the Hobart company has used part of it for storage purposes during the last few months.

It is stated the plant will be taken over by the purchasers June 1.

MEN CLAIM THEY WERE NOT TREATED FAIRLY IN XENIA

Four Wilmington men, arrested by authorities here and fined in the Court of Magistrate J. E. Jones on a charge of stealing an automobile tire from the wrecked automobile belonging to John Brannen, of Home Avenue, which was abandoned on the Wilmington pike, are charging that they were "victims of the railroad tactics of the Xenia traffic officials," according to the Wilmington News-Journal.

The four men, who charge that they were treated unfairly by officers in this city, are Ira Wood, Everett Wallace, Homer Wood and Zene Pyle who were fined $50 and costs apiece, and also required to pay for the cost of the tire, when they appeared in court here.

According to the Wilmington News Journal, the men were returning to Wilmington by automobile on the night the Brannen machine was wrecked at the Caesar Creek bridge, and they had been having tire trouble, finally deciding to drive to Wilmington on the rim. They claimed, however, that a man was guarding the Brannen machine at the Caesar Creek bridge, under the belief that it belonged to John Brannen of Wilmington, and that he gave them permission to borrow one of the tires to get home on, on their promise to return it.

They say that they transferred the tire and drove to Wilmington, later good faith, as one of them, explains Homer Wood and Pyle bringing the tire to this city to return it. The News-Journal says: "But their explanation did not go with the officials. So Homer Wood and Zene Pyle were clapped in jail and charged with looting the car. It is told that in the meantime practically everything in the way of accessories had been taken from the wrecked automobile."

"Ira Wood and Everett Wallace hastened to get the boys out of the trouble and promptly got into trouble themselves. Finding it easier to plead guilty to the charge, they accepted the situation and paid the fines. They insist that they borrowed the tire in 'just the same as we would borrow an inner tube or a gallon of gas,' having obtained permission to take it."

Homer Wood and Zene Pyle gave themselves up at Police Headquarters on coming from Wilmington with the tire. They told officials at the time, that they had borrowed it to drive home on and wished to return it, and Officer David Mangan, desk man at Police Headquarters, turned the men over to Sheriff Funderburg. The Sheriff further investigated the case, finally locking up the two other men, and filing charges against them in the Magistrate's court.

FAIR APPLE CROP PROMISED IN OHIO

Surveys made by the Ohio Experiment Station regarding the recent frost injury to fruit shows that a fair crop of apples may be harvested in northern Ohio.

In southern Ohio many of the commercial varieties have suffered heavy loss.

Specialist report that apples this year produced a ten-fold crop of blossoms and were able to withstand freezing without complete loss.

The prevalence of late-blooming varieties of apples in northern Ohio will help the chances of a crop of apples as is also the case with late-blooming cherries.

Only along the lake shore, however will a peach crop be harvested. Plums in general were completely destroyed by frosts.

An unusual occurrence of winter injury in young apple orchards in northeastern Ohio is reported despite the mild winter temperature. Generally only after a severe winter is freezing injury to the trunks of trees noticed.

I'd walk a mile for a Camel

The pleasure is worth it. There's no substitute for Camel quality and that mild, fragrant Camel blend.

The fellow who smokes Camels, wants Camels. That's because Camels have a smoothness, a fragrance and a mildness you can't get in another cigarette.

Don't let anyone tell you that any other cigarette at any price is so good as Camels.

Let your own taste be the judge. Try Camels for yourself. A few smooth, refreshing puffs and you'd walk a mile for a Camel, too.

CADETS LOSE GAME TO WILMINGTON

The O. S. & S. O. Home Cadets baseball team lost its first game of the season Saturday after winning two straight by dropping one to Wilmington High School by the score of 20-11 at the Home diamond.

Numerous and wicked work with the ash spelled the downfall of the Cadets. Torrence offering little from the slab to puzzle the Quakers who enjoyed a large day with the ash hammering out 20 safeties. Contrill of the visitors, only permitted seven hits, loosing fielding behind him being responsible for the 11 runs made by the Home, the Quakers making 12 mistakes. The home boys contributed their share to the farce with 15 errors.

Wilmington batted around in almost every inning, being at bat 56 times. The lineup: Cadets—Sherman, Lutz 1f; Torrence p; L. Nolan ss; Brewster c; Jackson, Jenkins 1b; Turney 2b; Marsh rf; C. Nolan 3b; Lewis, Braun cf; Wilmington—Steel c; Whitehead 1f; Sapp, Ogden rf; Bennett cf; Nowald 3b; Contrill p; Haynes ss; Stevens 1b and Carson 2b. HOW TO PREPARE CEREALS.
Stir the cereals gradually into the required quantity of boiling water, allowing one teaspoon of salt to each cup of cereal. Fine granular cereals may be mixed first with a small amount of cold water to prevent lumping; then add boiling water. Stir flaky cereals with a fork. Cook rapidly over a flame five or ten minutes, then in a double boiler. For prepared cereals allow plenty of time to cook thoroughly, as their ease of digestion and palatability depend largely on this.

SUGGESTIONS.
If Suit or Skirt is Sponged with vinegar and pressed with heavy cloth like tailors use all shine will be removed.

To Clean the Iron Rings on oil or gasoline stove and spiders with grease burned on, place on a bed of hot coals for a few minutes and the grease will all burn off, leaving them like new.

Sand in the Sink Waste Pipe—In washing sandy vegetables, such as spinach, use a large pan and drain off the water carefully that the sand may not go down the sink pipe. Even a spoonful of sand will cut and wear a pipe more than gallons of water.

Wall Papered Cleaner—Mix flour and water and a little cornmeal to a stiff dough; use as you would bought wall cleaner.

Dark Oak Furniture is very likely to be marred where there are little folks playing about the house. Whenever you notice scratches or scuffed places put a little colored iodine on the spots and go over the furniture with a good polish. You cannot tell where the spots were and the wood will look like new.

A Little Nutmeg Added to the white sauce of creamed fish gives a delicious flavor.

When Washing a Clothesline wrap around washboard and scrub with soapuds.

By Washing and Scrubbing Potatoes with a stiff brush, then paring them with one of the rustless steel knives, they will not stain or injure the most carefully kept hands.

BROKEN DISHES.
China Cement—Household dishes broken now represent a loss, and a good cement kept on hand will repair a broken dish so it can be used again and save the cost of new dishes.

China may be cemented with white lead. Rub the white lead on both broken edges, press the parts firmly together, tie, then set aside for a week to harden.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

Vera Childishly Proves Her Injury Chapter 42.

"You were very fortunate, Margaret. Vera was quick witted and you might have been disgraced for life instead of having those few blisters."

"I supposed she would make herself out a hero. I was in no danger at all. I could easily have put it out if she had left me alone."

I had been busy taking the bandages off my hands while they talked. It was childish, but I intended to show Keith that I had been more badly burned than Margaret. I kept my hands under the table so Gloria would not notice what I was doing. She was an irrepressible child, and never failed to call attention to every thing she saw.

"I doubt it, Margaret. Vera tells me you had on a chiffon dress. I am very glad you escaped so easily." He added as she drew up her stocking.

"Easier than I did, even if my services were not needed." I held my hands up, the palms all blistered, while on the outside of one were several large angry blisters.

When she stopped speaking Keith went at once to the telephone and called the doctor. While we waited for him he put the bandages back and announced his intention to remain until the doctor came.

"Such a fuss over nothing!" Margaret mumbled as she went to her rooms.

"The experience has upset Margaret. You must not mind if she underestimates what you did for her," Keith said when we were alone ready as always to make excuses for her no matter what she did or said.

"I don't mind," I replied wearily. My hands hurt me. I had scarcely slept at all and the selfishness Margaret had shown had hurt me even though I denied it.

The doctor said my hands would not be carried if I took the proper care of them. And for days I was almost helpless because of the bandages which he insisted I keep on, and at which Margaret laughed. She said cruel things—that I did not need to keep my hands bandaged, but knew it would inconvenience her with the work so pretended it was necessary, and things like that. Of course she did not say these things before Keith. He had been rather stern when she said I had "meddled."

Keith waited upon me until my hands were well. No one could have been more loving, kinder. I was happier than I had been for months—when he was with me. And I spent several hours almost every day with Erma.

I am useless at home so I have come to bother you," I told her.

"It is perfectly lovely to have you." I knew she meant it, so as soon as Keith left I would walk over and remain with Erma until nearly luncheon time, or remain at home to luncheon and go over there for the afternoon.

I think one thing about my burns pleased Margaret. I could not go to the club. They had their meeting while my hands were bandaged, and as I couldn't hold the cards scarcely feed myself. I remained at home.

"Did you have a nice evening?" I asked Margaret the next day.

"Very!" Everyone there was so congenial."

I asked no more questions. But Keith told me that everyone asked after me, and expressed their sorrow at my absence.

"When I told Grant how you burned yourself, he said, 'I knew she would be a brave little thing.'"

"How did he know it?" I asked laughing yet pleased.

"A good judge of character I guess. You are brave about many things, in many ways. Try and be as tactful and unselfish, and we will all be happier."

I longed to ask why the entire responsibility for the family's happiness should rest with me. But the telephone rang and when he had finished talking he had to hurry away, so my question remained unasked.

It might have made him angry anyway had I asked it. I was my thought as I stood at the window and watched him swing down the street. Yet I now know it was true—that I might, had I been really honest in my attempts, have made life more pleasant for us all.
